2. Starbucks objects to the definition of “Espro Press” as vague and ambiguous. For the purpose of responding to these Interrogatories, Starbucks shall interpret this term to mean the Espro French Press coffee maker sold by Starbucks as SKU 11133160.

ANSWERS AND OBJECTIONS TO REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION

REQUEST NO. 1:

All documents related to the negotiation, execution and/or performance of the 2008 Settlement Agreement.

similar protections. Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent the requested documents are now equally or exclusively in the possession of Plaintiffs or Plaintiffs' owners or controlling persons.

Starbucks is in the process of identifying and searching for responsive documents and will produce documents referring to the negotiation, execution, or performance of the 2008 Settlement Agreement that are not protected by the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. Any responsive documents that Starbucks expects to contain confidential information will not be produced (if at all) until the parties enter into a Stipulated Confidentiality Agreement and Protective Order.

Starbucks objects to the Request on the basis that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case. Starbucks objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. Starbucks further objects that this Request is duplicative of Request No. 1.

RESPONSE:

Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent that the term “all documents” includes duplicative or irrelevant documents. Starbucks further objects that the terms “related to instructions or direction” are vague and ambiguous. For purpose of this response, Starbucks interprets these terms to mean any non-privileged documents referring to compliance with the 2008 Settlement Agreement. Starbucks objects to the Request on the basis that it is unduly burdensome and not proportional to the needs of the case. Starbucks objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. All documents related to any statements made after the execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement similar to what Lisa Harpster testified Harry Roberts told her: that Starbucks would be using Bodum for presses initially.

RESPONSE:

Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent that the term “all documents” includes duplicative or irrelevant documents. Starbucks further objects that the terms “related to”, and “similar to what Lisa Harpster testified Harry Roberts told her: that Starbucks would be using Bodum for presses initially” are vague and ambiguous. For purpose of this response, Starbucks interprets these terms to mean documents that include any statements made after the execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement that Starbucks would be using Bodum for presses initially. Starbucks objects to the Request on the basis that it is unduly burdensome and not proportional to the needs of the case. Starbucks objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. Starbucks further objects that this Request is duplicative of Request Nos. 1–3.

Starbucks is in the process of identifying and searching for responsive documents and will produce documents that include any statements made after the execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement that Starbucks would be using Bodum for presses initially, that are not protected by the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. Any responsive documents that Starbucks expects to contain confidential information will not be produced (if at all) until the parties enter into a Stipulated Confidentiality Agreement and Protective Order.

REQUEST NO. 5:

All documents related to Starbucks’s consideration of, or discussion about, whether selling a non-Bodum product would or may violate the 2008 Agreement.

RESPONSE:

Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent that the term “all documents” includes duplicative or irrelevant documents. Starbucks further objects that the terms “related to”,

“consideration of”, and “discussion about” are vague and ambiguous. Starbucks further objects that this Request is overbroad and not proportionate to the needs of the case to the extent it is not limited to Bodum French press coffee makers. For purpose of this response, Starbucks interprets these terms to mean non-privileged documents referring to whether Starbucks sale of a non-Bodum French press product would or may violate the 2008 Settlement Agreement. Starbucks objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections.

Any responsive documents that Starbucks expects to contain confidential information will not be produced (if at all) until the parties enter into a Stipulated Confidentiality Agreement and Protective Order.

REQUEST NO. 6:

All documents (dated after the execution of the 2008 Agreement) related to Starbucks’s consideration of, or discussion about, whether a non-Bodum French press product would be sold.

RESPONSE:

Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent that the term “all documents” includes duplicative or irrelevant documents. Starbucks further objects that the terms “related to”, “consideration of”, and “discussion about” are vague and ambiguous. For purpose of this response, Starbucks interprets these terms to mean non-privileged documents sufficient to identify any non-Bodum French press sold by Starbucks after the execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement. Starbucks objects to the Request on the basis that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case. Starbucks objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections.

REQUEST NO. 7:

Documents sufficient to show what designs Starbucks believes Bodum has proposed to it since the execution of the 2008 Agreement.

RESPONSE:

Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent that the term “documents” includes duplicative or irrelevant documents. Starbucks further objects that the terms “what designs Starbucks believes Bodum has proposed to it” is vague and ambiguous. For the purpose of this response, Starbucks interprets this phrase to mean product prototypes or custom written product proposals for French press coffee makers prepared by Bodum exclusively for Starbucks and provided in written form to Starbucks that remain in Starbucks possession after execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement. Starbucks further objects to the Request on the basis that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case to the extent it is not limited to Espro French press coffee makers. Starbucks objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent the requested documents are now equally or exclusively in the possession of Plaintiffs or Plaintiffs’ owners or controlling persons.

STARBUCKS JULY 10, 2024 SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE AND OBJECTIONS
TO REQUEST No. 7:

Pursuant to a meet and confer of the parties and subsequent negotiations concerning Starbucks objections to Request No. 7, Starbucks conducted a reasonable search for and has produced or will produce documents or communications (1) referencing a list of certain Bodum French press products identified by Bodum’s counsel, and (2) between Bodum and Starbucks discussing other Bodum French press products. By producing these documents, Starbucks objects and does not concede that such documents or communications constitute “Bodum’s product designs that have been identified to Starbucks as proposed designs” under Section 1 of the 2008 Settlement Agreement between Starbucks and Bodum.

REQUEST NO. 8:

For the products in Request No. 7, documents sufficient to show the number of units sold and the price that Starbucks paid for the products.

RESPONSE:

Starbucks objects to this Request to the extent that the term “documents” includes duplicative or irrelevant documents. Starbucks further objects that the term “products” is vague and ambiguous. For the purpose of this response, Starbucks interprets this phrase to mean product prototypes or custom written product proposals for French press coffee makers prepared by Bodum exclusively for Starbucks and provided in written form to Starbucks that remain in Starbucks possession after execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement. Starbucks objects to the Request on the basis that it is overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not proportional to the needs of the case to the extent it seeks sales data concerning products that are not at issue in this litigation sold over the course of fifteen years. Starbucks further objects to the extent that the Request calls for documents subject to the attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other similar protections. Any responsive documents that Starbucks expects to contain confidential information will not be produced (if at all) until the parties enter into a Stipulated Confidentiality Agreement and Protective Order.

Starbucks is in the process of identifying and searching for responsive documents and will produce documents sufficient to show the number of units sold and the price that Starbucks paid for product prototypes or custom written product proposals for French press coffee makers prepared by Bodum exclusively for Starbucks and sold by Starbucks after execution of the 2008 Settlement Agreement.

TO REQUEST No. 8:

for other Bodum French press products. By producing these documents, Starbucks objects and does not concede that such documents or communications constitute “Bodum’s product designs that have been identified to Starbucks as proposed designs” under Section 1 of the 2008 Settlement Agreement between Starbucks and Bodum.
